

IS583 BOOKLAB

Final Project Showcase

What was a book, what is a book, and what will a book be in the future? How do books relate to and evolve alongside other information media? Come see how students in “BookLab: Print to Programming” are exploring these questions through their final semester book projects, which range widely in media—from analog to digital & much in between—content, & audience. Students will be presenting their projects in a “science fair” style exhibit & would love our iSchool community to join us!

When: Monday April 29th
10:30-Noon

Where: CU Community FabLab
1301 S. Goodwin, Urbana
